

Ercros collaborates in the Master in Tools for Professional Development in Industry at the Universitat Rovira i Virgili

UNIVERSITAT ROVIRA I VIRGILI

Belén Brota, manager of the Department of Quality and Environment at Ercros' Complex in Tarragona, will teach at the Master in Tools for Professional Development at the Universitat Rovira i Virgili. This is an own degree of this university, which has the support of Tarragona's chemical business network.

Ms. Brota will teach on sustainability and environment. Joining the faculty of the Master will provide the vision and experience of a leading company in its sector. A large number of the teachers in this degree come from companies linked to the Chemical Business Association of Tarragona (AEQT), which will give the students a technical training linked to the daily work that is done in those companies.

These degree is aimed at graduate students in Chemistry, Chemical Engineering, Biochemistry and Biotechnology, among others, and aims to provide a theoretical and practical quality basis to facilitate their job placement in the professional environment.
