

Joan Miquel Capdevila, new director of the Tarragona Industrial Complex

Joan Miquel Capdevila Gascón has been appointed director of the Tarragona Industrial Complex, with effect from July 10, 2017, replacing Marc Fargas Mas, which remains pending destination.

Joan Miquel Capdevila is a Chemical Engineer, in the specialty of Organic Chemistry, by the Chemistry Institute of Sarrià (Institut Químic de Sarrià "IQS"), Degree in Chemical Sciences by the Ramon Llull University and Master in Engineering and Process Reengineering by the Rovira i Virgili University.

His entire working life has been at Ercros. In 1996 he joined the Tarragona plant as a process technician for the acetic acid and acetaldehyde plant. Later, he was responsible for the technical office and head of the engineering department of this centre and, later, he held the same position throughout the Tarragona Industrial Complex. Between May 10, 2010 and June 7, 2017 he headed the Almussafes factory.
