best manager of Huesca

Luis Gállego receiving the award.

Luis Gállego, director of the Ercros factory in Sabiñánigo, has been awarded as the best Huesca executive by the Association of Managers and Entrepreneurs of Aragón ("ADEA"). This association has valued "his work to maintain the leadership of the factory in Sabiñánigo after 100 years of life, having a clear and orderly vision of its future to continue offering an industrial and dynamic influence in Sabiñánigo."

In his words of acceptance Luis Gállego wanted to share the award with "all the people who work in the Sabiñánigo factory" and explained that the factory, after 100 years of activity, "still wants to contribute to the development of the region, the province of Huesca and Aragón as a whole", in this sense he recalled that recently "launched new facilities and undertaken new projects with heavy investments".

The ADEA annual awards ceremony was held yesterday, November 28, at the Zaragoza Conference Centre, within the framework of the IX Convention of the aforementioned association, an event that brought together more than 1,000 businessmen under the slogan "The people at the centre of everything".
