

Ercros signs the Luxembourg Declaration

Ercros has signed the Luxembourg Declaration, committing itself to integrate the basic principles of occupational health promotion into its business strategy, to implement the objectives of occupational health promotion beyond those set by legislation and to follow the framework in managing the health of the people it employs.

The Luxembourg Declaration has been promoted by the European Network for Health Promotion at Work since 1997. In Spain, the National Institute for Health and Safety at Work is the body that validates this adherence, which is a prerequisite for obtaining the healthy organisation certificate, a process in which Ercros is involved.
