

The Ercros factory in Sabiñánigo opens its doors to vocational training students

Ercros has participated in the XII Aragonese Fair of Simulated Companies, held in Sabiñánigo, within the framework of which a visit of vocational training students to the company's facilities has been organized. During the visit, technical staff from the factory explained to the students the operation of the company and its production centres. Subsequently, the group toured the chlorine caustic soda and hydrogen peroxide plants.

The fair, organized by the General Directorate of Planning, Centres and Vocational Training in coordination with the Innovation Center for Vocational Training of Aragon and with the collaboration of the Sabiñánigo City Council, has brought together companies and vocational training centres from all over the community.

The meeting aims to bring students closer to the business world through the creation of simulated companies, virtual companies managed by the students themselves that reproduce the operational functioning of a company. The visit to the Ercros factory also allows them to learn first-hand about the operation of a real industrial company in their locality.
