Baccalaureate students visit the Ercros factory in Almussafes

A group of 30 students from the 2nd year of baccalaureate, accompanied by two teachers, have visited the Ercros factory in Almussafes on an educational visit to learn first-hand about the operation of the production center.

The Ercros team received the students, from the Almussafes Secondary School (IES), and, after a presentation about the company and the Almussafes factory, they showed them the laboratory, where they explained the operation of the analysis equipment.

With this visit, Ercros reaffirms its commitment to education and scientific dissemination, bringing the reality of the chemical industry closer to students and helping to awaken vocations in scientific and technical disciplines among the new generations.
